“It is a privilege to be chosen as the first ever, other than a record company, for this honor. Music has become one of the staples for in-flight programming and I’m proud to bring this selection of legendary Pullman Bond™ artists from the Pullman Group catalog to the friendly skies,” said David Pullman, the Founder, Chairman and CEO of The Pullman Group,® LLC.

David Pullman is the creative driving force behind The Pullman Group,® LLC. He pioneered the field of Celebrity Pullman Bonds™ based on income derived from music, entertainment and intellectual property royalties.

Pullman invented the concept of these bonds, to enable recording artists and songwriters to raise funds secured by future royalties of their work. Today, these are known as "Pullman Bonds™."

A Pullman Bond™ is a financing of music and entertainment royalties that allows the original creator or owner to maintain 100% ownership of the assets that are financed. The Pullman Group,® LLC developed these deals to empower artists and creators of intellectual property. The Pullman Group’s,® LLC asset backed securitization deals include the famous $55 million transaction for David Bowie, the first ever in the series of Pullman Bonds™, followed by a $30 million deal with Holland-Dozier-Holland (the Motown Hit Machine) an eight figure deal with R&B greats Ashford & Simpson, and the $30 million deal with “Godfather of Soul” James Brown. Another eight-figure deal includes the catalogue of The Isley Brothers, and the most recent signing was with the heirs of Marvin Gaye. The Pullman Group’s experience includes well over $1 billion in transactions through 2001.

Although music is often acknowledged as a truly priceless commodity, it took one visionary, David Pullman, to realize the ongoing monetary value of some of the best-loved pop music of all time. Now, celebrating five years of successful partnerships with songwriters and recording artists, Pullman Bonds™ continue to be an economic powerhouse fueled by a truly revolutionary synergy of art and commerce,” states United Airlines’ Magazine.
